MAYOR'S STATE OF THE CITY ADDRESS

The Mayor welcomed and thanked everyone for attending another reorganization meeting and his 6th one as Mayor.

“When people ask what kind of place Linwood is, the answer isn’t found in a slogan. It’s found in what happens when someone needs help. It’s found in who shows up — and how often.

Tonight isn't about pretending everything is perfect. It's about being honest about what this city does well, where we've made progress, and why Linwood continues to work the way it does, because people here stay involved. That's the real state of our City.

This past year, that involvement showed up everywhere.

It showed up with the City Council who spend countless hours on behalf of the residents. Council President Ford is the rudder that steers the city in the right direction, and I would like to thank him for his integrity and work ethic on behalf of the residents and staff. I would also like to commend Councilman Kelly as head of neighborhood services for his tireless efforts on important services the city provides. Councilman Levinson for his important work on the budget and hours of time spent creating incredible value for our residents. Councilman Salerno who was appointed and now elected to this body. He brings a new fresh perspective to Council, and I am eager to see his progression in the years to come. (Mike is so dedicated that he is actually becoming a volunteer firefighter in town)

It showed up in public safety which is chaired by Councilman Michael whose work sometimes goes unnoticed because of our very capable department heads but he is a very valuable asset and his hours spent led to the following. In 2025, our Police Department reached a milestone it had never reached before, achieving accredited agency status through the New Jersey State Association of Chiefs of Police. That doesn't happen by accident. It means policies, training, and daily operations met the highest professional standards statewide. Chief Steven Cunningham's leadership, including his graduation from the FBI National Academy, reflects a department that is planning ahead, not just reacting. We would like to thank and congratulate Sgt Devine for his 25 years of service and the thankless job of putting together a good portion of the accreditation paperwork.

But what matters most isn't the certificate on the wall. It's trust.

That trust is built at National Night Out, which was the largest in our city's history. It's built at school visits, senior lunches, and conversations that don't make headlines. It's built when officers are visible, approachable, and part of the community they serve. I would also like to thank Lt. Martin for all his efforts this year helping to manage such great work.

The same is true for our Fire Department led by Chief Walley and Captain Gabriel.

In just six months, our new first responder program handled 339 calls. The department responded to nearly 600 calls overall this year. And behind those numbers are moments that matter, like the CPR save on New Road in December. That's not a statistic. That's a life.

Our firefighters didn't just respond to emergencies this year. They showed up in classrooms, senior programs, and community events, because safety doesn't start with sirens. It starts with connection.

Public Works chaired by Councilman Walcoff and led by Joe Olden is another place where that connection is easy to overlook, until you need it.

This year, the department completed more than 1,400 work assignments. They collected dozens of large leaf containers, maintained over 500 storm drains and outfall pipes, responded to multiple snow events, patched potholes, maintained street signs, and kept our parks and playgrounds safe and welcoming. They also supported nearly every community event we host, from National Night Out to senior luncheons and the holiday tree lighting.

They played a hands-on role in advancing major city projects, assisting with renovations to the rescue squad building, the new field house, turf field improvements, and upgrades at Poplar Avenue Field. And this year, we said goodbye to Chip Jones after 42 years of service. That level of commitment doesn't show up on a balance sheet, but it's part of why Linwood functions the way it does.

It took a lot of convincing to get Councilman Walcoff to join the team, but we are extremely lucky that he relented. We continually use him as a soundboard for ideas and is a constant presence in a sometimes-chaotic environment.

The word Recreation is boldly presented on our city seal and is solidly represented by the efforts and thankless work of our Parks Director Colleen Kaufields. She is the backbone of our community events and athletic programs. We cannot thank her enough for her exemplary work.

Behind the scenes, our city's operations continue to run with discipline and professionalism.

Our Tax Office led by Sylvia Washington and assistant Tonya Chrysler-Fortino maintained a 98.83% collection rate in a year when delinquent properties increased. Diane Hesley our Tax Assessor navigated a strong real estate market while modernizing records, improving data accuracy, and increasing efficiency in responding to public requests. City Hall appointed a Qualified Purchasing Agent for the first time, allowing us to operate more efficiently and responsibly with taxpayer dollars. We did not have to look far as that QPA is our own Leigh Ann Napoli, City Administrator and the glue who holds this city and council together. The council and I hope she realizes her value, and we thank her for her service to Linwood and its residents. Leigh Ann is not without a very competent staff, and we also would like to recognize the work of her deputy Mary Cole and our newest addition Mindy Parson who has handled everything thrown at her and more.

The finance office led by our CFO Anthony Strazzeri keeps us on the right path with our budget and delivered another perfect audit. I would like to thank our Auditors Leon Costello and Carol Russ for their efforts to help us become better every year. Joe Youngblood who has been our solicitor longer than some of the council people have been alive, continues to be an important part of what we do every day.

These are quiet improvements, but they matter.

So do the visible ones, particularly the work done by our Engineering Department led by Councilwoman Albright whom, which you will hear about in moment, spends way more time than she ever intended doing a phenomenal job in juggling many projects at once, with professionalism and grace. Our city Engineer CJ, who joined us this year, had no problem stepping in and hitting the ground running.

In 2025, the Engineering Department delivered a substantial list of completed projects across the city. These included the full turf field conversion at Memorial Park, Phase One improvements at Memorial Park with drainage upgrades, additional parking, new fencing, hockey decking, concrete pads, and bike racks. At Poplar Field, landscaping improvements and field upgrades were completed to enhance safety and usability.

Major roadway projects were also completed, including improvements to Oakcrest Avenue and Monroe Avenue, resurfacing of Wabash Avenue Phase Three, resurfacing of Barr Avenue, and completion of a sewer lining project to extend the life and reliability of critical underground infrastructure. The new field house building was also completed, providing a modern, shared facility for residents, athletes, and community programs.

In addition to completed projects, significant work is already underway or planned. Memorial Park Phase Two plans are moving forward, along with miscellaneous road, drainage, building, and grounds projects throughout the city. Plans are in place to widen the full length of the bike path, further expanding safe and accessible recreation and transportation options. The Safe Routes to School project will add sidewalks along Shore Road, Greenwich Avenue, and portions of Tabor Avenue, improving pedestrian safety for students and families. The long-awaited library elevator replacement project is also progressing, ensuring accessibility for all residents.

These projects reflect careful planning, responsible investment, and a focus on long-term value, not quick fixes.

Speaking of the library led by Hannah Bishop a lifelong resident of Linwood, welcomed more than 500 new patrons this year and checked out over 31,000 materials. It continues to be one of the most active community spaces in Linwood, serving families, seniors, and students alike.

And through it all, our Construction Department led by Angela Marshall and assistant Donna McBride processed over 600 permits, conducted more than 1,700 inspections, and saw increased activity across the city — clear signs of continued investment in Linwood's future. Fire Inspectors Tom Flynn and Ray Conover continue to set records in inspections and keep our homes and businesses safe.

Council and I would like to thank the numerous boards and the volunteers who serve. The Planning Board Chair Mitchell Gurwicz and Recreation Board President Marc Carpenter exemplify what is best about Linwood and its Volunteers.

None of this happens in isolation. It happens because people care enough to serve, as employees, volunteers, elected officials, and residents. It happens because this community believes in doing things the right way, even when no one is watching. That's what makes Linwood special.

As we look ahead, our focus remains simple: keep this City safe, fiscally sound, and connected. Keep investing in infrastructure. Keep supporting our employees. Keep listening to residents. And keep showing up for one another.

On a personal note, I want to thank my wife Brett and my sons, Zach and Xander, for their constant support. Public service is never a solo effort, and neither is leadership.

Linwood is not just a place we live. It is a place we take responsibility for. And as long as that remains true, the state of our City will remain strong. Thank you."

MEETING OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Council President Ford opened the floor to the public for discussion on any topic.

Glenn Wagner, Linwood Gospel Chapel, 900 New Road, Linwood – Mr. Wagner reference the street vacation ordinance on the agenda and asked if the City can have the property corners marked out to identify the paper street. Seeing and hearing no other members from the public wishing to be heard, Council President Ford closed the floor.

FINAL REMARKS BY COUNCIL

Councilman Michael – Councilman Michael thanked everyone for attending. The year went by very quickly and as the Mayor mentioned in his speech, there were a lot of accomplishments in 2025 that he is very proud to be a part of. He thanked everyone involved for their efforts and thanked the Police and Fire Departments for their continued assistance.

Councilman Levinson – Councilman Levinson congratulated the Mayor on his speech and how nice it was to hear all the accomplishments by the City. He congratulated Councilman Salerno on his election and Councilman Michael on his re-election. Councilmen Levinson, Salerno, and Michael all grew up in Linwood and now raise their families here. He thanked his family for their continued support.

Councilman Salerno – Councilman Salerno reiterated Councilman Michael's comments. He is also very proud to be a Linwood resident and honored to serve on Council. The past six to eight months on Council has been a great experience. He is looking forward to continuing to serve.

Councilman Walcoff – Councilman Walcoff thanked the Mayor for his year in review. A lot of things did happen. He is proud to service on Council with all that was completed. Especially all the recreation improvements. Everyone works very hard for the City and he looks forward to continuing.

Councilwoman Albright – Councilwoman Albright thanked everyone for attending the meeting. She attended the recent ribbon cutting at the new Veterans Clinic. It was a great event. She believes it will be an asset for Atlantic County. She thanked her fellow members on Council for electing her as Council President Pro Tem and thanked Mr. Youngblood for swearing her in. She appreciates all the work everyone does to get things done for the betterment of Linwood. She is very proud to serve.

Councilman Kelly – Councilman Kelly thanked everyone for attending. The governing body is made up of very strong, intelligent people and the Mayor is a great leader. Councilman Kelly is proud to be a part of it. The group debates and listens to the residents. He thanked everyone for their support and leadership and wished everyone a Happy New Year.

Council President Ford – Council President Ford congratulated Councilmen Kelly, Levinson, and Michael. He thanked the group for electing him as Council President. He enjoys working with such a great team, who all put countless hours in. It is what makes Linwood a great place to live. He also thanked everyone for attending the meeting.

ADJOURNMENT

With no further business to be addressed by Council, Councilman Levinson motioned, seconded by Councilman Michael, to adjourn at 6:36 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,

Leigh Ann Napoli, RMC
City Administrator/Municipal Clerk
